Mark Holodick: Earlier this week I attended the Navigating Delaware Pathways: An Education and Workforce Development Summit at Delaware Technical Community College's Terry Campus in Dover. Formerly the Delaware Pathways Conference, this event unites educators, higher education professionals, and employers around strengthening workforce development in our area.

It was great watching attendees network across sectors and discuss innovative strategies that continue supporting career and technical education, talent acquisition, training and retention, and more for Delaware students. ...

Event sponsors included: Delaware State Chamber of Commerce, Delaware Department of Education, Rodel, United Way of Delaware, Delaware Technical Community College, Delaware Workforce Development Board, Delaware Office of Work-Based Learning, Delaware Society for Human Resource Professionals (SHRM), and more.

Bernice Whaley: Big thanks to the Delaware State Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Alliance for organizing Small Business Day in Dover yesterday! Always a pleasure catching up with familiar faces from The Delaware Division of Small Business: Anastasia Jackson, Lauren Swain, and Joe Zilcosky.

Jaimie Watts: Part of my leadership role at Leadership Delaware is to fully understand all major issues facing our state. Today, I had the privilege of attending the End-of-Session Policy Conference, hosted by the Delaware State Chamber of Commerce. It was an opportunity to hear the details of key bills including HB350, HB248, HB422, thoughts surrounding the upcoming elections, and the potential impact of both on Delaware. Extra bonus: I got to run into so many friends and members of the LDI community!
